Horses in Battle. - The extent to which a charger can apprehend the perils of a battle field may be easily underrated by one who confines his observation to horses still carrying their riders; for, as long as a troop horse in action feels the weight and hand of a master, his deep trust in man keeps him seemingly free from great terror, and he goes through the fight, unless wounded, as though it were a field day at home; but the moment that death or a disabling wound deprives him of his rider, he seems at once to learn what a battle is-to perceive its real dangers with the clearness of a human being, and to be agonized with horror of the fate he may incur for want of a hand to guide him. Careless of the mere thunders of guns, he shows plainly enough that he more or less knows the dread accent that is used by missiles of war whilst cutting their way through the sir, for as often as these sounds disclose to him the near passage of bullet or round shot, he shrinks and cringes. His eyeballs protrude. Wild with fright, he still does not most commonly gallop home into camp. His instinct seems rather to tell him that what safety, if any there is for rushes at the first squadron he can find, urging ASSEMBLY ROOMS. him, must be found in the ranks; and he piteously, yet with violence, that he too by right is a troop horse—that he too is willing to charge; but not to be left behind—that he must and will "fall in." Sometimes a riderless charger thus bent on alligning with his fellows, will not be content to range himself on the flank of the line, but darts at some point in the squadron which he seemingly judges to be his own rightful place, and strives to force him-

Riding, as it is usual for the commander of a regiment to do, some way in advance of his regiment, Lord George Paget was especially tormented and pressed by the riderless horses which choose to turn round and allign with them. At one time there were three or four of these horses advancing close abreast of him on one side and as many as five on the other. Impelled by terror, by gregarious instinct, and by their habit of ranging in line, they "closed" in upon Lord George so as to besmear his overalls with blood from the gory flanks of his nearest intruders, and oblige him to use his sword. -Kinglake's Invasion of the Crimea.

A RESTING SPELL.—Now that we are thoroughly organized in Virginia, and the Conservative candidates have fulfilled all their appointments, we hope that we will all take a good rest. The prospect is that Virginia will not be allowed to take part in the Presidential election, and that there will be no State election for some months. Let us then keep quiet, but watch while we wait. We cannot see how we can help the cause of Seymour and Blair or advance our interests by going through all the "fury" of a canvass when we are already all of one way of thinking and all eager to vote whenever an opportunity may occur. Providence has been kind in saving us from the fate prepared for us by the mongrel Convention. The lull consequent upon this has tended to abate the bad feeling that had sprung up between the races. It the carpet-baggers cease to stir up the negroes, there is no good reason why we should do anything to excite them. We want their work. That and the social quiet that goes hand in hand with it, will do much to re-establish good order. We can, perhaps, do more for the election of Seymour and Blair by a discreet course than by any other course of action. Our own interests will certainly be more promoted by giving to them our time and energies than by wasting that time in an muster merely to fire blank cartridges. While saying this we at the same time urge those whose business it is, to work quietly among the masses, visiting and noting down all the Conservative voters, and having them ready for any contingency that may arise. - Rich. Whig.

But this advice, good in some respects. should recognize the propriety of a free and hearty expression of opinion in favor of the Conservative candidates, and the adoption of all proper measures to contribute to their success. 14 208 .o.

STRANGE SITUATION IN NEW ORLEANS .-After a careful perusal of the New Orleans papers of every political shade, before and since the disturbances of August 1st and 3d, we are justified in saying that the condition of affairs in that city is one of the most remarkable which has arisen anywhere in the South under the Reconstruction acts. At present there is peace in the Crescent City, and no sign that it will be broken. But the situation is a strange one, as we remarked, in these respects: that the party calling for more troops is the party which makes the disturbances, and that the party which preaches up perfect liberty of consci, erce and tongue is the one which evinces a disposition to mob people for indulging in those luxuries; also, that the foremost persecutors are Radical blacks themselves, for whom such touching appeals as a "down-trodden race" are made to our sympathies in the Radical VANDALISM. -The grave of Lola Montes at Greenwood Cemetery was recently defaced by some persons unknows. The tomb of this once celebrated woman bears the simple inscription: "Eliza Gilbert, died January 17, 1861, aged 42." The grave is neatly enclosed by a border of boxwood and is well cared for by a tamily with whom the deceased was intimate during life. The discovery was made by one of the latter who visited the cemetery on Friday last for the purpose of planting a bouquet of flowers on the grave. Inquiry at the gatekeeper's office as to the cause of the demolition of the little green mound beneath which calmly sleeps the once far famed Lola Montes, elicited naught to throw any light upon the subject. - N. He who places himself under the care of Dr J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS

Immediately cured and full vigor restored. This distressing affection, which renders life miserable and marriage impossible, is the penalty paid by the victims of impropriety .-Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the phases. You can now buy anything I have in the Book line cheaper than they can now be had of the sublishers.

Lines laining into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The System becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame, Consumption, Decay and Death.

DR. JOHNSON, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons London, Graduate of one of the most eminent part of whose life has been spent in the hcepitals of London, Paris, Phila where, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known, many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, at-

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and soli-tary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, socie ty or marriage. These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions. General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Averson to Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced. Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigos, becoming weak, pale, ner-ance about the eyes, Cough, and Symptoms of Consumption. YOUNG MEN, Who have injured themselves by a cer indulged in, a tain practice, quently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt yous and emaciated, having a singular appear-even when asleep, and, if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prespects and enjoyments of cret habit. Such persons must, before contemeffect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial hap Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prosp ct hourly darkens to the view, the mind pecomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with your own.

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE. When the misguided and imprudent votar; erected prior to the 1st of February, 1869, at of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovname satisfactory reference as to their ability ery deters him from applying to those, who for placing an outfit on the shore and fishing from education and respectability, can alone the same, or security will be required for the befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their ap pearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs. dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shinbones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity till at last the palate of the mouth or the cones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commisseration, till death puts a period to his dreadful suf ferings, by sending him to "that Undiscovered Country from whence no traveller returns."

It is a MELANCHOLY FACT that thou sands fall victims to this terrible disease, owing to the unskilfulness of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that DEADLY POISON, MP R-CURY, ruin the constitution and make the residue of life miserable. DR. JOHNSON, OFFICE, No. 7, SOUTH FREDERICK STREET, BALTIMORE, MD.,
